GERMANY

The Bajus family originated in Germany in the area known as Hessen. Johannes Bajus was born 11 Feb, circa 1754 at Engelthal and married Katharina Krumeck about 1775. Katharina was born about 1759 on 13 December. They are buried at Nauheim, Hessen, Germany. Their issue was Johann Peter Bajus. He was born on June 13th, 1795 at Klein-Gerau in Hessen/Germany. Until his father who was a merchant traveling around the country died he had to help him. Then - in 1809 - he left his parent's home and learned distilling. Some years later he returned to his mother and worked as a day-labourer in Nauheim. There JP Bajus got to know Elisabeth Margarethe Wenz but they could not marry before 1821 when they both were older than 25. Till this time their three oldest children were already born. JP Bajus was famous in the area around Nauheim for his strength and the speed which he used executing his jobs. So one day early in the year 1824 there was a bet between butchers from Mainz who wanted to know if he could run from Mainz to Frankfurt/Main and back to Mainz (around 40 miles) in less than five hours. He failed but there were so many people along his way that the newspaper printed several reports of the event. After two further runs in Mainz JP Bajus went to Frankfurt/Main and there the very famous Hanau-Run took place on February 15th, 1824. Thousands of spectators came to the course to admire "the flying man" - so he was called in some newspapers. All over Germany the newspapers reported on this run, also some newspapers of other European countries reprinted the articles which they got from Germany. Also the Hessian Grand Duke Ludwig I. heard from the extraordinary runner and he decided to hire him as a running footman. In March 1824 JP Bajus reported for work. At the end of the 1830s he handed over his job to his oldest son Johannes, he himself remained as a normal footman. In 1852 JP Bajus undertook his first journey to North America. He visited his sons Jacob and Peter Wilhelm in Kingston, Ontario/Canada where he wanted to prove if it was possible for him and another part of his family to emigrate, too. Then he returned to Germany. In 1856 JP Bajus finally emigrated to Canada with two younger sons. One year later his wife followed. They probably lived in the house of their son Peter Wilhelm in Kingston, Ontario. JP Bajus died in February 1875 and was buried at the St. Mary's Cemetery in Kingston, Ontario on February 18th, 1875.

Philip Wenz, brother to Elisabeth Wenz immigrated to Canada prior to 1826 and settled at Kingston, Ontario. He bought the Kinston Brewery and he and his nephews worked the distillery.

WENZ, Philip [1795- ]

brother to Elisabeth Wenz; emigrated from Germany prior to 1826; bought, in 1826, the Kingston Brewery, Kingston, Ontario, Canada; helped his nephews, Jacob Bajus prior to 1840 & Peter Wilhelm Bajus in 1843, to immigrate to Canada and they worked in the Brewery.

CANADA

From Germany came the Bajus and Wenz families and they settled at Kingston, Ontario. As mentioned before the Wenz family operated the Kingston brewery and several members of both families worked in the business. Helen Bajus married into the Phillips family. Descendants are still in the Kingston area and some are in various towns and cities in Ontario, Canada.

BAJUS, Alfred [1858-1914]

Elkhorn - Mercury, Manitoba, July 30, 1914

Called to Rest

Mr. Alfred Joseph Bajus, Prominent in Village and District, Died.

Deceased has been in poor health for some years and succumbed last Thursday to Paralysis. Loss to Community.

Just before going to press last Thursday we received the sad news of the death of Mr. A.J. Bajus who passed quietly to his rest at his home, north of Elkhorn, in the early hours of that morning. The news was not unexpected, as since Friday, July 3, the day on which he was stricken with paralysis, very little hope has been held out for his recover and although every remedy was tried no possibility of his recovery was entertained. The deceased was born at Kingston, Ontario in January 1858. He was united in marriage to Miss Annie Amelia Brenell (the present Mrs. Bajus) at Kingston on April 1st, 1889 and on the day following they left for the west to make their home in the district north of Elkhorn where they have since resided. A homestead was secured and additional land purchased. Materials for buildings, horses and cows were brought with them from Ontario and until the home was built the new settlers occupied, what will be remembered by all old timers as the Dixon house, which was on the farm now owned by L. Johnson. The history of this district would not be complete without the name of A.J. Bajus who, although taking no active part in public life, soon proved that he possessed those qualifications which are so essential to the development and prosperity of every western district. He was one of those who ever manifested the helpful spirit characteristic of the early pioneers who were always willing to help bear each other's burdens in the settlement of a new country. A generous open hearted man and a good neighbour. He lived but a short time to enjoy the aim of his life which has been accomplished in the well improved and highly cultivated farm on which the family now resided and which will stand as a monument of his capable direction. He was a staunch supporter of the Methodist Church and in politics, a strong Conservative, seeking always the success of his party. By his death the village and district suffer a severe loss. Funeral services were conducted at the house and at Trinity Church by the Rev. J. W. Shier on Friday, July 24th. That at the church was most impressive and the building was filled with friends and sympathisers who listened with deep attention to the words of the minister in an eloquent address on "The Resurrection". The coffin, covered with beautiful flowers, was borne by J. H. and W. Miller, F.H. Thomas, J. Freeman, J. Siple and W. Charlton. A long cortege followed and witnessed the final rites at the graveside in the Elkhorn cemetery. A wife, daughter, five sons, a sister, Mrs. Crothers of Kingston, Ontario and a brother, Mr. W. Bajus of Vancouver are left to mourn his loss. Their sorrow is shared by all of us and our deep sympathy is extended to them in their bereavement.

Bajus. April 9th. Jacob Bajus aged 74 years and 9 months. Passed peacefully away at midday to join those he loved on the other side. The funeral will take place from the residence of his son-in-law, W.J. Crothers, Earl St., Tuesday, at 2:30 P.M. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

The Daily British Whig

The spirit of Jacob Bajus took its flight yesterday afternoon at the residence of W.J. Crothers. Deceased had been confined in his bed for about two weeks, having been attacked with an affection of the heart. Deceased was born in Hesse Darmstadt, capital of the grand duchy of Hesse, Germany, on July 6th 1818. He came to Kingston in the spring of 1838 and worked in the old brewery owned by his Uncle, Mr. Wenz until 1843, when he assumed control himself. He took a trip to Germany in 1856 to visit his parents and upon his return was voted $1,600 by the city council to move his brewery to its present location. The concern was then a wooden structure and was the termination of Wellington St. the city wanted to open up the street and for this purpose granted the money. The old brewery was accordingly torn down and George Newlands, contractor, erected the present ale and porter department. In 1861 deceased added the malt house, and about eighteen years ago after his son Philip took over the business, the lager beer department was added.

Deceased was married to Miss Mary Moon in 1841. His wife died some two years ago and since then his life has been a retired one. He had six children, Philip, Jacob, Mrs. W.J. Crothers, William, Alfred and Alie. William, Alfred and Mrs. Crothers survive. The two sons are now living in the west, William having a position in the customs house at British Columbia, and Alfred owning a large farm at Elkhorn, Manitoba. Deceased was very charitable and during his life relieved the sufferings of many poor people in Kingston. Honesty was a trait of his character and by thrift and hard work he amassed a large fortune. He took a great interest in the Salvation Army and befriended that organization many ways.

In the First Congregational Church last evening, the pastor made feeling allusions to the death of Mr. Bajus. For years he had been a constant and devout member of the congregation and though not formally a member of the church he was a regular and welcomed communicant. His uprightness of character and earnest faith in the Savior were characteristics well known to those acquainted with him. He was not long in following his son, Philip Bajus, whom he greatly mourned into the eternal world. He met death as only an earnest Christian can and it was pathetically interesting to hear his earnest prayers uttered in the German language, his mother tongue

Death of Philip Bajus

Stricken With Paralysis a Month Ago, He Died Today

This morning Philip Bajus, proprietor of the Kingston Brewery, succumbed to the effects of paralysis. The attack came to Mr. Bajus about a month ago when looking after the storage of the stock of ice. So peculiarly did the illness come that Mr. Bajus, leaning against the vault house door, did not recognize his own gloved hand on the wall. The stroke settled suddenly. From the first it was seen the case was serious, with few chances for recovery. Drs. Sullivan and T.M. Fenwick called several times each day and remained with the sick man hours at a time. Drs. Strange and Herald also visited him. About ten o'clock this morning life took its flight.

Deceased was the eldest son of Jacob Bajus who came to Canada in 1838, locating here with his Uncle Mr. Wenz. Four years later Jacob took charge of the brewery, retiring after about twenty years when Philip took control. Philip was born in 1843 and educated in both public and private schools, one educator being the late Rev. W. H. Coombs.

Mr. Bajus had a great liking for the militia and took a course in the Royal Canadian Rifles military school, securing a 2nd and 1st class certificate. On April 22, 1871 he joined the 14th Battalion as ensign of the # 6 company, and was promoted to Captaincy of the same company in 1874. Two years later he was promoted to Junior Major. Mr. Bajus' s business had been increasing in the meantime, and thinking it to his advantage to retire from the service, he did so in 1877. About fifteen years ago the deceased was elected to the public school board and was also chairman of Catarqui school. He did good service.

He was a member of the I.O.O.F., A.O.U.W., and one of the leading spirits of Minden lodge No. 253, AF & AM Ancient Frontenac and Catarqui chapter No. 1 R.A.M. He was past eminent preceptor of Hugh DePayne Premier Perceptory, No. 1 K.T. and a chaptered member of Kingston Lodge of Perfection No. 7 and Rose Croix Chapter. He served thrice as a pursuivant grand master. He also attained the 32 degree in Moore Sovereign consistory, Hamilton.

In March 1867 deceased married Louise Bryant, daughter of the late William Bryant, Manitoba, who died in 1874. Four children were born, two of whom died. In 1876 deceased married Grace, daughter of Robert H. Stevenson, Belleville. Three children were born.

Deceased took a six-month course in Bryant and Stratton's mercantile college, Montreal, from which he received a diploma. Mr. Bajus was a regular attendant at the First Congregational Church. Deceased was fond of traveling and when quite a young man took a trip through the northwest. About fifteen years ago he visited England and Germany, the home of his father, and was in the principal cities of Europe and America. Since taking charge of the brewery deceased made great improvements, the most important being about twelve years ago when he built the lager beer department. In politics Mr. Bajus was a staunch conservative and an enthusiastic admirer of Sir John A. Macdonald in Kingston. The aged father, wife and family are recipients of much sympathy.
